ENACTED

BACKGROUND

A bipartisan proposal to answer the structural question before legislating the substantive one: whether AI should be regulated by existing agencies under existing authorities, by a new body, or by some division of the two. It creates a twenty-member commission to review the current landscape and return a recommended risk-based framework on a fixed schedule.

KEY PROVISIONS

- Establishes a twenty-member bipartisan National AI Commission.
- Directs a review of the current federal regulatory landscape for AI.
- Requires recommendations for a risk-based regulatory framework.
- Requires assessment of whether existing agencies or a new body should hold authority.
- Sets interim and final reporting deadlines to Congress.

LEGISLATIVE RECORD

Introduced 20 June 2023.
